As a leading Canadian business law firm with a presence in New York, Osler is positioned to bridge legal and business landscapes between Canada and the United States. Specializing in Canadian law, we provide comprehensive legal services to Canadian companies looking to expand into the U.S. market, as well as U.S. entities seeking to navigate the Canadian business environment.

We deliver strategic, cross-border legal solutions that drive our clients' successes. Our commitment to excellence and our collaborative approach set us apart, making us the go-to partner for businesses pursuing cross-border opportunities.

New York Office

For over 30 years, Osler's New York office has served the Canadian legal needs of investment banks, law firms, hedge funds and other clients based in New York and the rest of the United States, providing a gateway to Canada for them.

The Canadian lawyers based in our New York office specialize in advising on cross-border corporate finance, M&A and regulatory compliance matters from a Canadian perspective. Our New York team works seamlessly with our legal professionals across Canada to ensure that our clients receive the best Canadian legal advice and service in all practice areas for their cross-border matters. Our close relationships with leading U.S. law firms also allow us to partner with them in providing integrated cross-border advice from both a U.S. and Canadian perspective.

Osler's New York office is an integral part of our cross-border Canadian practice. We are dedicated to meeting the needs of our clients in New York and around the world, bringing Osler's broad experience and deal focus to each transaction.
