Before entering law school, Keira earned a Bachelor of Knowledge Integration Degree at the University of Waterloo, where she was involved in various student leadership positions and the local start-up ecosystem. After graduating, Keira completed a two-year rotational program at the Royal Bank of Canada, holding roles on business and tech-centred teams. During law school she focused on extracurriculars at the intersection of corporate law and technology. Throughout her degree Keira gained professional experience as a management consultant at KPMG and legal intern at Accenture.
