David is recognized as an expert litigator specializing in pension and benefits litigation and employment litigation. He represents and is a trusted advisor to major pension funds and corporations in pensions litigation matters, and has acted for the successful party in a number of well-known pension and benefits cases at various levels of court including the Ontario Court of Appeal and the Federal Court of Appeal. This practice also includes a substantial administrative law component, both advising and appearing before statutory tribunals. David is a regular presenter on pension class action and other pension litigation issues. He also has extensive experience acting for employers defending wrongful dismissal and other employment-related litigation, and many years of corporate and commercial litigation experience.
