Gobind is an associate in the Real Estate Group of our Toronto office. He provides advice on all principal areas of commercial real estate law, including acquisitions, dispositions, financing, development, joint venture structuring and leasing. Gobind acts for a broad range of clients, including real estate advisors, asset managers, private equity funds, public and private international investors, entrepreneurial investors, developers and REITs.

His entrepreneurial spirit and strong business aptitude bring a unique perspective to his practice. A former business owner operating in the real estate development, management, and construction industry, Gobind draws on his technical and business experience to help his clients build their vision.

Prior to joining Osler in 2022, Gobind was a member of the Real Estate and Financial Services group at another leading Canadian national law firm.
