Paula is a partner in Osler’s Commercial Department specializing in energy and construction law and is Co-Chair of the firm’s Construction and Infrastructure practice group.

A trusted advisor to many of Canada’s largest energy and infrastructure companies, Paula’s practice focuses on the construction, development, acquisition and divestiture of energy and infrastructure projects in Canada and abroad, with a particular focus on renewable energy and energy transition projects.

She has in-depth experience in oil, gas, oilsands, LNG, power and renewable energy transactions and project development and engineering, procurement and construction (EPC) matters, including on acquisitions/dispositions, joint ventures and commodity and carbon credit transactions. She regularly advises clients running or participating in competitive procurements for renewable energy, EPC or other commercial arrangements, including for tender, requests for proposals and other single- or multi-staged procurement processes and documents.

Paula is recognized by Chambers Canada and other organizations as having leading expertise in construction and energy law. She is a thought leader in the sector, regularly publishing and presenting on legal and business developments affecting industry participants. She is also the Calgary partner representative on Osler’s National Diversity Committee and serves on the board of directors of Women+Power, a community organization dedicated to empowering women in Alberta’s power industry.
